Extreme poverty is growing in Paraguay with more than 2 million people (35.6% of the population) living in adverse conditions. This is due to the fact that their income doesn't cover their basic living costs.

26% of our children live in extreme poverty and amongst our Indian communities, this rises to 63%.

Testimonies

From the beginning of my time in FEISA I felt accepted, as if it were my own family. You really feel warmth and love. I learnt that you need to fight for what you want and not give up. (Silvia)

Our visit to the Chaco was a marvelous experience! I learnt that the most important qualities in education are love and humility because with these you can achieve great things, despite all the difficulties and limitations.

I am so grateful for FEISA's help, their understanding and the patience they always showed me. Now, after many struggles, I have been able to fulfill my dream of becoming the professional teacher I've always wanted to be.

We really feel the support of FEISA during our teaching practices. Teachers work with each of us individually, guiding and helping us and giving us advice about how to improve.

The years I've been a student here have really impacted my life. I appreciate that all our teachers are Christians who not only want us to become good reception teachers but also have a relationship with God by sharing their faith and testimony with us as students. (Andrea, degree student)

Our aims

FEISA

We have been entrusted with an important mission, a work of faith and God, who inspired it is the one who enables us to carry it out.

Vision

We are an educational institution providing excellence in our services from a Christian world view training both professional and community support. Practicing solidarity and experiencing the love.

Mission

We are seeking to form professional teachers of integrity who will contribute to a more just and worthy society, helping children to be more secure, more competent and happier, and thus able to build a better PARAGUAY.

Values

Faith, Excellence, Integrity, Solidarity, Amor (Love)

"Student fees cover 70% of FEISA's budget. We also offer 13 scholarships every year to students from poor backgrounds."

What we do

Academic study

Students receive their Early Years teaching diploma after 3 years of study and can obtain a degree after a further 2 years. They also participate in a variety of workshops: drama and puppets, children's literature and dance.

Teaching practices

Students do their practices in a wide variety of Early Years institutions: Nurseries (children from 0 to 2 years); Kindergartens (children from 3 to 4 years); Reception and private preschools (children aged 5)

Social programmes

We offer a mobile play scheme (ludoteca) to children from disadvantaged backgrounds. We experience the social reality of Paraguay by visiting different indigenous Indian schools in the Chaco.

Easter service

As part of our Christian focus, the Third Year students prepare a special service to remember the immensity of God's love, shown by sending Jesus to die for our sins.
