Arlan Fick cumple 61 días secuestrado
 This is the title in today's newspaper. It is 61 days since he was taken. The 5th form want to show support for Arlan Fick, the 16yr old who was kidnapped by a terrorist group in the North of the country. They are going to bring white ribbons for everyone to wear on their wrists and for the parents and staff to put on their cars to show support. Then next Friday they want everyone to wear white Tshirts and bring a white candle to have a special prayer time for him in our assembly. They hope that it will start other schools also to show support.

It is Mags' assembly on Friday. We are looking at the Names of God and it just happens to be "The Hope of Israel". The kids are impressed that it has worked out since they wanted verses about hope for their prayers.

After church on Sunday there was lunch for Hannah and Sam who are getting married in July. Hannah worked in school for 18 months. She's going to Ireland this week to get everything ready. We dashed off afterwards because we wanted to go to the Telethon Food fair which was out at a club near the airport. School had a stand and everyone was helping out. We were stuck in a traffic jam for over two hours and by the time we got near it was finishing. They had sold out so we went round the airport roundabout and came home. Three hours later. It had been a great success anyway.

We have been taking the services in church once a month. It takes a lot of preparation but I think we gain from it almost as much as others. Our next one will be June 15th so we are already thinking of that. We've also both had assemblies to do.

We are both fit and well. Our puppy is growing fast and is very naughty but he's also very cuddly so he wins everyone over! The lady who brought him put him into a dog show the other week and he won Best Puppy in show from an Argentine judge! ...needless to say, it wasn't for good behaviour!! Our oldest dog, Milly, isn't very well at the moment and we aren't really sure what's wrong with her except she doesn't want to eat. That in itself is most unusual!

Thankyou for your support. We really appreciate it.
 God Bless and lots of love, Gwen and Mags xx
